

HAPPENINGS IN AND ABOUT TOWN

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS 29 YEARS OLD

City Began Paying Men For Fighting Fires on Nov. 24, 1886.

Wednesday was the 29th anniversary of South Bend's paid fire department. It is also the 29th anniversary of Capt. C. O. Stollard, the oldest fireman and city employee in point of service, as a paid fireman.

It was on Nov. 24, 1886, that 14 men were put on the city payroll as firemen. At that time there were four different fire stations. The central station was on W. Jefferson Blvd., between Michigan and Main sts., where the Frederickson building now stands. Company No. 1 was back of the present site of the Masonic temple. Company No. 2 was located on what is now known as the haymarket, at the corner of Lafayette and South sts. Company No. 3 had its headquarters where it is now, on N. Hill st.

Capt. Stollard, who is now in charge of Hose Co. No. 5, has been a member of the South Bend fire department for 27 years, having been in the volunteer service eight years before the fire ladders were given pay. He is not only the oldest fireman and city employee in point of service, but is the oldest captain in the city, having been given this rank about 18 years ago. For over four years he was secretary of the department.

During his time on the department, Capt. Stollard has served under eight different chiefs, O. H. Eusebe, Al Cover and Jack Donahue were the chiefs during his time as a member of the volunteer department. Isaac Hutchins, William Baker, Jacob Kerner, Wilfred Grant and Irving W. Sibrel, the present chief, have held the office over Capt. Stollard. Capt. Stollard went to his first fire on the first Tuesday in October, 1878.

Next Chief William Smith is the next oldest fireman in point of service. He was a member of the department when it was first paid, but was out of the service for four years since that time. Chief Sibrel joined the department about three years after it was organized, but left the service for a few years. He went to his first fire, the Studebaker home, in Tippecanoe place, on Oct. 9, 1889.

DISMISS TWO CASES

Three Men Are Fined For Carrying Concealed Weapons.

Two assault and battery cases were dismissed in city court Wednesday morning upon the motion of Pros. Atty. C. R. Montgomery. Joseph Noveth, alleged to have assaulted Margaret Jacobs, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs, was allowed to go free and because friendly relations had been resumed between the plaintiff and defendant. John Mazalin, accused of beating and cutting Julius Nuzsik, was dismissed.

Frank Rosar, Joseph Hichocan, and Joseph Bambarco, arrested in connection with the shooting affray on S. Chapin st., last Saturday night, pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons in city court Wednesday morning and were fined $1 and costs each.

BETZ WINS 105 TO 85

Beats Stanley in Billiard Tournament at Mann Parlors.

Charles Betz, 15, defeated William Stanley, 20, by the score of 105 to 85 in the pocket billiard tournament at the Golden Mann parlors Tuesday. Bert McClellan, 5, won from Lucien Hubbard, 15, by the score of 119 to 70, and C. Churchill, playing from scratch, won over Glen Cover, 30, by a score of 130 to 52. Henry Rogers was presented with a cue for his services since the tournament has been on.

Tonight Frank Story, scratch, will meet James Ward, 15. H. Crist, 10, is scheduled to play H. C. Morrison, five.

HENRY'S GOING OVER AND SAY, "YOU STOP"

Hires a Nice Little Steamer and Will Clear U. S. of Its Pacifists.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. — Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer and philanthropist, announced today that he would take a trip to Europe to observe the war. He said he intended to go to the Scandinavian peninsula, which will sail on the Ford and his party. He will invite leading American patriots to join the expedition to see the neutral nations as they have a great deal to say at one of the Eu-

COW TOO BIG TO GET IN BUILDING.

You would you get a cow, too big to harmonize with the doors of a building, into said building? This problem confronted men in charge of the display for National Electrical Prosperity week in the Inwood building.

Many suggestions were offered but they were all impossible, and the feature of the Lakeville Cream Products Co.'s display will remain in its crate until the front window is taken out for the admission of an automobile.

You see, the cow is of the plaster and parva variety, and all suggestions up to this time have been for regular milk providers.

EXPECT TO EQUAL FIGURES OF 1914

With $17,004.25 Collected Good Will Canvassers Will Continue Their Work.

Despite the fact that Good Will workers were making preparations Tuesday for an extensive campaign of the city during the last two days of this week to get money for the charities, the collectors took in $17,004.25. This amount brings the total collections for the campaign up to $17,004.25.

Following are the figures for Tuesday: Team No. 2, $13; seven, $3.35; nine, $118.35; 19, 50 cents; 13, $57.07; 14, 25 cents; 19, $1; 21, $84.50; 22, $7.25; 24, $38.85; 29, $15; trustees, $750.

The office force of the South-Bend Federation for Social Service spent most of the time Tuesday getting the canvassers ready for the workers to take out Friday and Saturday. On these two days the workers will make an effort to bring the total at least up to the amount that was collected last year. In order to do this it will be necessary for the teams to collect about $5,000, an average of about $1,700 a day, including Wednesday.

Archbold Home is Under Guard

MR. & MRS. JOHN D. ARCHBOLD.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y.—For the first time in his life, John D. Archbold, Standard Oil magnate, is now going, with an armed guard, and guards surround his estate in this community. Since the discovery of a bomb of four sticks of dynamite and percussion caps, planted in the private automobile road leading from the house to the highway, every precaution is being taken.

The superintendent of Mr. Archbold's estate discovered the infernal mine and turned it over to Mrs. Archbold, who kept it in the house until, under cover of darkness, it could be taken to the police head-

ELECTRICAL SHOW IS ABOUT READY

Miniature Interurban System to be One of the Displays.

Electricians and carpenters are busily engaged on final details of the mammoth electrical prosperity week display, to be given starting next Monday, at 209-211 S. Michigan st. The display is staged under the auspices of the Indiana and Michigan Electrical Co., and is far from an advertising feature alone. Its units will be of interest to all classes, and efforts are being made to appeal to old and young alike.

That the north windows will be blocked from view of older heads by youngsters of the city is evident from the strides being made in the exhibit of the C. S. B. & N. I. Railway Co., which will constitute a miniature interurban system showing the entire scope of the traction lines in Indiana and Michigan. Lake Michigan, the St. Joseph river, ships, automobiles, trains, all will be prominent in the display. It is an electrical display, the cars being run throughout by electrical power. State roads, the Lincoln highway in its Indiana and Michigan limits, the dams at Elkhart and Berrien Springs, and bridges form interesting bits of the condensed state plan.

This display is a feature of the great movement over the country, National Electrical Prosperity week.

MEN PROMISE TO LEAVE; GET CHANCE

Three Accused of Intoxication Promise Court to Show Speed.

Three men escaped jail sentences in city court Wednesday morning when they promised Judge Warner that they would hurry either afoot or on trains to other parts. Frank Wilson said that he was on his way to Detroit from Chicago and would leave in 20 minutes. His pal, George Conklin, said that he also wanted to go to Niles and would go with Wilson. George Ellison declared that he was a papermaker by trade and was anxious to reach Morris, Ill. He was told to "vamosse" which he did. Each of the men were charged with intoxication.

Joseph Putz pleaded not guilty to the same charge and his case was set for Thanksgiving morning. Charles Williams of Goschen was given a fine of $5 and costs for intoxication.

NAVAJO BLANKETS NOT MADE BY INDIANS

Exhibit is Product of Oregon Factory—Original Lines Closely Followed.

Navajo blankets that aren't Navajo blankets form an interesting exhibit in the Ellsworth store windows. They come from the Pan-American exposition, where they were a part of the exhibit of the Oregon City mills. So nearly do they imitate the texture, color and design of the original Navajo blankets that it is difficult to believe that they are woven in the prosaic surroundings of a modern factory.

Made up into luxurious automobile coats, bathrobes and steamer rugs, they are doubly attractive. They are manufactured from the long fleece, choice Oregon wool and follow with fidelity the ancient designs which link them with the traditions of the old Indian tribes. Practically all the Indian tribes of the southwest purchase their blankets of this company.

It is an interesting bit of history to note that the Oregon City mills occupy the site of the old Hudson Bay stockade built in 1829, so that the history of the mills is interwoven with that of the northwest. The company's exhibits at the Pan-American and San Diego expositions won gold medals at both, and a grand prize at the former. The exhibition, in charge of W. H. Selkirk, factory representative, will be in South Bend over Friday and Saturday.

TURKEYS ARE SCARCE

Geese, Ducks and Chickens Are in Demand.

Turkeys were in demand on market Wednesday morning, but the supply was not there. This shortage in the Thanksgiving fowl may have been due to the fact that dealers did not know the market was to be open. It will be closed Thursday, one of the regular market days.

Geese, ducks and chickens took the place of turkey on the market Wednesday morning. There was a plentiful supply of these fowls. Apparently many housewives made their Thanksgiving purchases on Tuesday, thinking it was the last market day before the annual event, for there were more geese, ducks and chickens than were needed.

All prices remained the same as they have been for the past week. The few turkeys on the market sold at 23 cents, alive, and 28 cents, dressed. Ducks and geese went at 14 cents, practically all of these fowls being alive. Old chickens sold at 14 and 18 cents while springers went at 14 and 20 cents.

ALL BUT CLERK'S OFFICE WILL OBSERVE HOLIDAY

Matrimony and Hunting to Secure Special Consideration at Court House Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving at the court house will see all departments closed to observe the holiday save the county clerk's office. This office remains open during all holidays save the Fourth of July. Thursday they expect to minister to couples desiring to get married on the holiday by serving them licenses. They will also provide for the onslaught of hunters who annually come in early on Thanksgiving morning for hunting and fishing permits. Seventy-two hunting licenses were issued Tuesday, the largest number yet issued this year on one day.
